一、全文中英文主旨

中文主旨

本文以艺术领域的新潮流为切入点，核心探讨未来主义诗歌的文学属性问题。作者提出，当艺术新思潮成为潮流时，应先厘清其倡导者的核心主张，因为当下看似牵强无理的理论，未来或许会被视作常态；但针对未来主义诗歌，作者明确指出，即便承认其理论基础有合理之处，这类作品也很难被归入文学范畴。同时作者认可“情感生活的巨变需要表达方式的革新”这一前提，最终以反问的方式，从根本上否定了未来主义诗歌的文学价值。

英文主旨

This article takes the new trend in the art field as the entry point, and focuses on the literary attribute of Futurist poetry. The author proposes that when a new artistic trend becomes fashionable, we should first clarify the core proposition of its advocates, because the theory that seems far-fetched and unreasonable today may be regarded as normal in the future. However, for Futurist poetry, the author clearly points out that even if we admit that its theoretical basis is reasonable, such works can hardly be classified as literature. At the same time, the author acknowledges the premise that "great changes in emotional life call for innovation of expression", and finally fundamentally negates the literary value of Futurist poetry in a rhetorical way.

- 让步结构2: even admitting that...may be right (现在分词短语作让步状语, 其中that引导宾语从句, 作admitting的宾语)
- 定语从句: on which it is based (介词+which引导, 修饰先行词the theory, 正常语序为it is based on the theory)

- 不定式1: `to read in the explanatory notes that...` (that引导宾语从句, 作read的宾语)
 - 该宾语从句中, `off which they both fall into the river` 是介词+which引导的定语从句, 修饰先行词bridge, 正常语序为 `they both fall off the bridge into the river`
- 不定式2: `to find that...` (that引导宾语从句, 作find的宾语, 和前面的to read由and then连接, 构成并列主语)
- 破折号的作用: 分隔两个并列的不定式主语, 突出前后内容的反差, 强化作者的讽刺语气。

Text 3

When a new movement in art attains a certain fashion, it is advisable to find out what its advocates are aiming at, for, however farfetched and unreasonable their principles may seem today, it is possible that in years to come they may be regarded as normal. With regard to Futurist poetry, however, the case is rather difficult, for whatever Futurist poetry may be — even admitting that the theory on which it is based may be right — it can hardly be classed as Literature.

This, in brief, is what the Futurist says: for a century, past conditions of life have been conditionally speeding up, till now we live in a world of noise and violence and speed. Consequently, our feelings, thoughts and emotions have undergone a corresponding change. This speeding up of life, says the Futurist, requires a new form of expression. We must speed up our literature too, if we want to interpret modern stress. We must pour out a large stream of essential words, unhampered by stops, or qualifying adjectives, or finite verbs. Instead of describing sounds we must make up words that imitate them; we must use many sizes of type and different colored inks on the same page, and shorten or lengthen words at will.

Certainly their descriptions of battles are confused. But it is a little upsetting to read in the explanatory notes that a certain line describes a fight between a Turkish and a Bulgarian officer on a bridge off which they both fall into the river — and then to find that the line consists of the noise of their falling and the weights of the officers: “Pluff! Pluff! A hundred and eighty-five kilograms.”

This, though it fulfills the laws and requirements of Futurist poetry, can hardly be classed as Literature. All the same, no thinking man can refuse to accept their first proposition: that a great change in our emotional life calls for a change of expression. The whole question is really this: have we essentially changed?
