一、文章主旨

英文主旨

This text discusses the conflict between the Royal Shakespeare Company (RSC) and the townsfolk in Stratford-on-Avon, Shakespeare's hometown. The townsfolk dislike the RSC, claiming the theater brings no revenue to the town, while the RSC argues that playgoers (not just sightseers) are the main source of the town's income. It also covers the town's "crying poor" while expanding tourism facilities, the RSC's need for a subsidy despite high attendance, and the importance of keeping ticket prices low to attract young audiences.

中文主旨

本文围绕莎士比亚故乡埃文河畔斯特拉特福镇展开，论述了皇家莎士比亚剧团（RSC）与当地居民之间的矛盾。当地居民反感剧团，认为剧院未给小镇带来收入；而剧团则指出，是看戏的观众（而非单纯的观光客）为小镇创造了主要收入。文章还提及小镇“哭穷”却大肆扩建旅游设施、剧团虽上座率极高却仍需补贴的现状，以及维持低价门票以吸引年轻观众的重要性。

三、完整原文与全文翻译

完整原文

Stratford-on-Avon, as we all know, has only one industry – William Shakespeare – but there are two distinctly separate and increasingly hostile branches.

There is the Royal Shakespeare Company (RSC), which presents superb productions of the plays at the Shakespeare Memorial Theatre on the Avon. And there are the townsfolk who largely live off the tourists who come, not to see the plays, but to look at Anne Hathaway's Cottage, Shakespeare's birthplace and the other sights.

The worthy residents of Stratford doubt that the theater adds a penny to their revenue. They frankly dislike the RSC's actors, them with their long hair and beards and sandals and noisiness. It's all deliciously ironic when you consider that Shakespeare, who earns their living, was himself an actor (with a beard) and did his share of noise-making.

The tourist streams are not entirely separate. The sightseers who come by bus and often take in Warwick Castle and Blenheim Palace on the side don't usually see the plays, and some of them are even surprised to find a theatre in Stratford. However, the playgoers do manage a little sight-seeing along with their playgoing. It is the playgoers, the RSC contends, who bring in much of the town's revenue because they spend the night (some of them four or five nights) pouring cash into the hotels and restaurants. The sightseers can take in everything and get out of town by nightfall.

The townsfolk don't see it this way and the local council does not contribute directly to the subsidy of the Royal Shakespeare Company. Stratford cries poor traditionally. Nevertheless every hotel in town seems to be adding a new wing or cocktail lounge. Hilton is building its own hotel there, which you may be sure will be decorated with Hamlet Hamburger Bars, the Lear Lounge, the Banquo Banqueting Room, and so forth, and will be very expensive.

Anyway, the townsfolk can't understand why the Royal Shakespeare Company needs a subsidy. (The theatre has broken attendance records for three years in a row. Last year its 1,431 seats were 94 per cent occupied all year long and this year they'll do better.) The reason, of course, is that costs have rocketed and ticket prices have stayed low.

It would be a shame to raise prices too much because it would drive away the young people who are Stratford's most attractive clientele. They come entirely for the plays, not the sights. They all seem to look alike (though they come from all over) — lean, pointed, dedicated faces, wearing jeans and sandals, eating their buns and bedding down for the night on the flagstones outside the theatre to buy the 20 seats and 80 standing-room tickets held for the sleepers and sold to them when the box office opens at 10:30 a.m.
